Transport solutions

First of all, walking is obviously the cheapest means of travelling, and can be the quicker in a city centre. Of course, the further you have to go, the more so tired you will become. In some ways walking is healthier than travelling by bus or car, but it can be just as the unhealthy because cities are much more polluted than they used to be. Cars are faster of course and more than convenient, but as cities become more crowded, parking is getting harder. Sometimes public transport is better, even though buses don't go as fast as cars do. Cars are a lot more and convenient but as they cause most pollution, it is the better to avoid using them if possible. In a city the fastest way of travelling is on a bike, which keeps you fitter and is not so that noisy as a motorbike or a car.

Many people believe high heels make women look good. So much so, it seems, that the organisers of the Cannes Film Festival reportedly barred women in flat shoes from walking the red carpet. But all this glam comes at a cost: people often say that wearing heels over 8cm high can damage your ankles.

Part*2

A study by Hanseo University in South Korea suggests that continuous wearing exposes women to the risk of strains, and makes them prone to losing their balance. A total of 40 women who wear high heels at least three times a week took part in the study. The strength of their ankles was measured regularly: researchers found that two of the four main muscles became dominant after a period of between one and three years in case of wearing heels over 10 centimeters high. This created an imbalance in their feet.

Dr Yong-Seok Jee from Hanseo University said that the habit of wearing heels can result in deformed feet, back pain and unhealthy walking patterns. He recommends that women limit the use of these kinds of shoes and exercise their ankle muscles properly.

Part*3

High heels are considered by some people to be sexy and feminine, but in fact the fashion started with men's feet. These shoes were a form of riding footwear, and were seen on the feet of 17th Century Persian soldiers. Elizabeth Semmelhack of the Bata Shoe Museum in Toronto says: "When the soldier stood up in his stirrups, the heel helped him to secure his stance so that he could shoot his bow and arrow more effectively."

Before becoming a staple of modern women's wardrobes, high heels were used by Louis XIV of France. These shoes were status symbols. Let's face it – nothing screams privilege like uncomfortable, luxurious and impractical clothing. They say the wearer doesn't have to work in fields or walk very far.

What do you think: are high heels a symbol of women's elevation in society - or should they be booted out of fashion?

- a. fewer than two
  - b. at least three
  - c. more than four
3. Which of these is NOT an effect of wearing high heels?
- a. losing your balance
  - b. some muscles becoming stronger than they should be
  - c. breaking your ankles
  - d. back pain
4. Which word in Part 3 means “a main or most important part of something”?
- a. staple
  - b. elevation
  - c. stance
5. What does Dr Yong-Seok Jee recommend women to do?
- a. Walk long distances regularly
  - b. Stop wearing high heels
  - c. Do regular foot exercises
  - d. Wear heels that are maximum 8cm
6. Why did 17th Century Persian soldiers wear high heels when they were riding horses?
- a. The heels helped them to stay on their horses

- b. They made the soldiers look taller
  - c. The shoes were status symbols that showed the soldiers' position in society

- a. ... rich
  - b. ... poor
  - c. ... stupid
  - d. ... intelligent
8. Who were the first high-heeled shoes made for?
- a. men
  - b. women

Text 2: Read the text carefully and mark or circle T if the answer is true, and F if the answer is false, and N/G if the answer is not given.

FOMO

Everybody knows how important it is for students to get a good night's sleep every night. You aren't able to do your best and keep up with all of your responsibilities unless you sleep well. I'm sure you already know that you should go to bed at a reasonable hour. Most experts agree that the optimum number of hours is eight, and this has been accepted as common sense for as long as I can remember. However, I was young once and I know that most of you get much less sleep than that – and in some cases it will be affecting your schoolwork.

I read an interesting article in a teachers' magazine recently. They did a study of 848 students in Wales. Worryingly, the results showed that teenagers are facing a new problem. They may go to bed and get up at appropriate times but a growing number are waking up in the middle of the night, not to use the bathroom or have a snack but because of a new phenomenon: FOMO – fear of missing out!

According to the article, schoolchildren are suffering because of a growing trend to wake up during the night to check social media. Afraid of missing a comment or opportunity to take part in a chat, teenagers are waking at all times of the night, going online and getting involved. All this when they should be sound asleep.

Experts are worried about this growing trend and the report reveals some worrying statistics that I'd like to share with you:

- 23% of 12 to 15-year-olds wake up nearly every night to use social media. Another 15% wake up at night once a week for the same reason.
- One in three students are constantly tired and unable to function to their full capacity.
- Students who use social media during the night are more likely to suffer from depression and anxiety.

So, I'd like to ask you to be responsible when it comes to social media. Be brave! Switch off your devices at night. The world won't end and your social media will be waiting to greet you in the morning! I give you my word that you won't have missed anything important.

1	T	F	N/G	Students won't be able to perform well at school if they are not intelligent enough to go to sleep.
2	T	F	N/G	The experts agree that an eight-hour sleep is necessary.
3	T	F	N/G	When the author was young, he used to sleep less than 5 hours.
4	T	F	N/G	The writer is worried by what other teachers have told him.
5	T	F	N/G	FOMO urges schoolchildren not to use the bathroom or have a snack.
6	T	F	N/G	Fear Of Missing Out is anxiety about not having the latest technology.
7	T	F	N/G	Nearly a quarter of 12 to 15-year-olds wake up to use social media almost every night.
